

3M Fall Protection Newsletter

Keeping you up to date with our latest product and safety standards. Offering knowledge and support to keep you safe while working at height.

Take a Stand - Help Prevent Suspension Trauma

3M™ Fall Protection is incorporating Suspension Trauma Safety Straps on mainline U.S. and Canada harnesses by the end of March 2021.* This soon-to-be standard feature will help reinforce our ongoing commitment to enhancing worker safety.

READ MORE

General Guidelines for Working Safely in Construction During the COVID-19 Pandemic

Consider what additional requirements and steps employers should be taking to help protect the health and safety workers on construction job sites by reading this informative blog.

Full Article

Disinfecting Fall Protection Equipment - COVID-19 Concerns

As a result of COVID-19 continuing to evolve globally, 3M has received numerous inquiries regarding cleaning and disinfecting processes suitable for use on fall protection equipment commonly used in occupational environments. As these processes have not had the opportunity to be fully tested and validated scientifically on our products, we have prepared this Technical Bulletin focused to help provide our customers with proper guidance.

Learn more here

We're Here to Help You

We encourage you to seek out assistance from our safety specialists to discuss what fall protection equipment, systems, training and other services offered by 3M may be helpful for your job site.

Looking for help selecting the right Fall Protection gear?

Contact a Fall Protection specialist today.

Fall Protection

Need to update your old equipment? Check out our Trade In, Trade Up options to save.

*The patented Suspension Trauma Safety Straps will now be incorporated into harness designs as a fully integrated component on all mainline ANSI and CSA certified 3M™ DBI-SALA® and Protecta® P200 (Excludes Protecta® P50) harnesses in a phased approach by the end of March 2021.

Follow 3M

